9) Petitioner's application is for Naturalisation as a Fijian State Subject. In other words he wants a certificate of his political Status as a Subject of Fiji by domicil. Since Fiji has no international Status, Fijian Nationality will not confer any political or civil rights other than what domicil does. Persons who have acquired a domicil in Fiji enjoy certain privileges, such as franchise & legislature and local levies and entry into Govt Service. There is no naturalisation law in Fiji and therefore there is no scope for recognising the petitioner as a Fijian State Subject.

9) If approved, the petitioner will be informed that there is no provision of law under which his request can
